Project Profile

Whitney Veigas was selected by The Winsor School to design and fabricate signs for their new Center for Performing Arts and Wellness, designed by William Rawn Associates. Included are code required signs, exterior metal letters, donor recognition elements, and dimensional school mascot graphics. The solution was then extended to existing academic buildings.

Our Solution

Base building signs are constructed of photopolymer and feature the school's signature red as an accent on the backer, with their seal treated as a watermark. For contrast, a subdued vocabulary brushed aluminum with polished edges is used for donor recognition. Photo murals add color and energy to the space.
